Hickory Supply Vanishing.

Warning that the original supply of hickory, the best American fuel wood and the most difficult to replace in case of a shortage of American hardwoods, is approaching exhaustion, is given in a bulletin of the Department of Agriculture, compiled by Forest Assistant Anton T. Boisson and J. A. Newlin, engineer in timber tests. It shows that Virginia hickory, the chief source of supply, is disappearing rapidly and that there are no foreign sources which can be drawn upon when the home supplies are exhausted. Prices, it is pointed out, are bound to advance because of the high technical value of hickory, coupled with the fast diminishing supply.

The bulletin says hickory has a number of important special uses for which no satisfactory substitution is known; that fully 40 per cent of the merchantable hickory cut each year is wasted; that the total amount of hickory consumed annually probably is not less than 450,000,000 feet; that the vehicle industry takes about 65 per cent of the total cut; that there are now about 100,000,000 acres on which hickory is growing naturally, and that hickory users should co-operate to prevent shortage.

The total eclipse of the moon last night was viewed by many of our people. The eclipse coming as it did just after sundown and over a full moon, afforded a splendid opportunity for it to be seen to the best possible advantage.

Every Body Needs

a good salve and Dr. Bell's Antiseptic Salve is the best. It is a creamy snow white ointment. Guaranteed for all skin diseases. 25c sold everywhere.

For Commissioner of Agriculture.

Mr. J. W. Newman, who now holds the position of secretary of the State Fair, this week announces that he will be a candidate before the Democratic nominating convention, or in the party primary election, for the nomination for the office of Commissioner of Agriculture, Forestry and Immigration, being ambitious to serve the farmers of the State in that capacity. Mr. Newman goes to Porto Rico this month by appointment of the United States Department of Agriculture, to superintend preparations of an exposition to be held on that island the coming year, but expects to return to Kentucky in time to engage in a canvass for the nomination he seeks.—Inland Farmer.

Dr. C. B. Dickson, dentist from Ashland will be at the Red River Hotel this city Thursday, Friday and Saturday, November 24, 25 and 26, to practice his profession.

Will Move Away.

W. G. Patrick, merchant and farmer at Kimbrell, will have a public sale of all his personal property including stock of goods, live stock, crop and other accessories of the farm. See posters for particulars. Mr. Patrick will move November 28th to Wilmore, Jessamine county, to reside. Mr. Patrick is one of our best citizens and is a material loss to the county. Our best wishes go with him to his new home.

Whooping Cough

It is an old saying that whooping cough must run its course but the use of Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey has demonstrated beyond doubt that such is not the case. It can be cured by the use of this remedy.

Effect of Good Roads.

The substitution of good for bad roads would directly reduce the cost of living by reducing the haulage cost on food products. It has been proven by actual figures that in every case where the roads have been improved, the rural population has increased. To quote Senator J. H. Bankhead, of Alabama. "The trend of population from country to city is most apparent in those sections of the country which are isolated by reason of bad roads. An example illustrating this point has been cited by the United States Office of Public Roads in which it is shown that in 25 counties showing an increase of population from 1890 to 1900, averaging 30,000 to the county, 40 per cent of the roads were improved and maintained in first class condition, while in 25 counties in the same states showing a loss of population in the same period 3,000 to the county, only a little over 1 per cent of the roads were adequately improved. It is rarely the case that the average increase is less than 20 per cent of the total value while numerous examples can be cited of increases exceeding 100 per cent. The last Federal census, taken in 1900, shows that there has been an increase in the farm value of the United States amounting to 27 per cent and that only four States of the union show a depreciation of farm values. Massachusetts shows the largest percentage of increase in these values and this increase has developed since the policy of state aid for road improvement was adopted. Prior to this time the farm values in that state depreciating."

It is estimated that $40,000,000 of the $80,000,000 at present annually spent in America on roads might as well be thrown into the sea. With a system of scientific Federal supervision like that of the Department of Bridges and Roads in France, this vast sum could not only be saved, but be applied with treble efficiency.—Southern Agriculturist.

Price of Living Coming Down.

J. Ogden Armour, the Chicago packer, said that not only had there been reductions in the price of meats and other stockyard products, but that the prevailing tendency was toward a still lower level. He ascribed the lower prices to the bumper corn crop and increased cattle receipts. Reports from cities in all sections of the country confirm the packer's statements.

Costly Politics.

One of the successful candidates for Congress in Pennsylvania was forced into bankruptcy the day after the election, and another candidate was not permitted to make the final race because he spent so much in the Republican primary, though he had thereby won the nomination. It seems that politics are even more expensive in other states than Kentucky.

Our idea of a strong-minded man is one who doesn't try to make an excuse after making a mistake.

Thanksgiving Day.

Next Thursday is Thanksgiving, and as usual, we may expect to see it celebrated by excessive hunting and feasting. There is not an individual in the world but what may look around them and see something for which they may return thanks to God who made us. Some have more than others to be thankful for, but will they be as thankful? It seems that he who should be the most thankful for what he has is generally the least thankful.

High License.

In the recent local option election contest at Bowling Green the whiskey people preached up high license and the city after three dry seasons concluded to try the high license, and the city council has decided to make it high sure enough placing the license at $5,000 per year. Eight saloons applied for license at these extraordinary high figures. It seems that blind tiger privileges would have been a great deal cheaper.

J. H. Crow, of the mouth of Lulbegrud, was here yesterday for medicine for his youngest brother, Nathan B. Crow, Jr. who is in very poor health.

Dr. Bell's Antiseptic Salve

is guaranteed for eczema, salt rheum, tetter, ringworm, running sores, chapped hands and lips, pimples on the face, black heads, barbers itch, sun burn, insect bites, fever sores and nasal catarrh. 25c.

An exchange shouts: "Down with corn liquor". No trouble about that if its good corn liquor.

Nearly all the big States elected Democratic Governors.

It's a poor candidate who can't be elected before the voting begins.

Eight or ten new Democratic Senators in a lump, that is going some.

One of our Republican exchanges give as the reason for their loss in the East that it was because the leaders of the party had betrayed the people and seemed to think it a pity that the whole people must suffer on the account of these leaders near-sightedness. In the same column this paper said Langley won on his record which was a most brilliant one. Langley voted for every measure that caused the g. o. p. to lose in other states. The difference is, enough of the people up East know when to vote for a change but down in the Tenth they have more to learn yet. With the paper, "Consistency thou art a jewel."

It's hard luck for the Administration to be compelled to admit a considerable deficit in the national revenues for October and for the fiscal year. It was hoped that just before the election a surplus could be announced, but the income cannot keep up with the outgo of a Republican Administration.

The record that elects Langley in Kentucky defeats Republicans elsewhere by overwhelming majorities. The old saying, "The American people like to be humbugged" can not be so forcefully applied anywhere as in the Tenth.

Caleb Powers will have a bigger job at Washington two years hence making away with a Democratic President than he did of making way with a Democratic Governor of Kentucky ten years ago, but Caleb is bigger now too.

Abraham Lincoln didn't know John Langley or he would not have written this phrase: "You can fool all the people for a while, but you can't fool all the people all the while."

A woman lecturer in Chicago says that man is a useless creature. That may be true, but we'd like to know where woman would get alimony if there were no men.

John Langley has fooled us all in the Tenth. He first fooled enough votes to elect him, and fooled the rest of us because he could fool so many that way.

The Colonel's admission that he found one honest man in Wall street maybe an admission that he has been in Wall street and thinks he found himself.

Langley's boasted influence with Senator Elkins and other distinguished big fellows at Washington will not amount to much this time.

In many places Republicans lay all the blame for such heavy losses to the negroes who they claim deserted them by the wholesale.

Roosevelt had better stayed away from New York and just write letters over there like he did for Langley over here.

It is necessary, really when you come to think about it, that Langley go back to Washington so as to introduce Caleb.

Teddy's statement that "the people of this country have brains" has been verified by the last election.

There are 12,000 reasonable Republicans in the Eleventh district. There are not so many in the Tenth.

Uncle Joe Cannon will have to be good now with Champ Clark in the Speaker's chair and a Democratic House.

In former campaigns it was "the full dinner pail". This year it was "the full market basket".

The Largest Corn Crop.

Jessamine county, it is claimed, has produced the largest yield of corn ever known. In 1840, Gen. James Sheiby, of Fayette county received from the Agricultural Society a premium for the most productive five acres of corn. The five acres yielded 550 bushels or 110 bushels per acre; but in the same year Walter C. Young, of Jessamine county, who then lived in the eastern part of it, gathered, by disinterested parties, from two acres of a field of corn, the enormous yield of 195 and 198 bushels, respectively, which stands, so far as known, as the largest yield ever obtained from a similar area. — Jessamine Journal.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Care. Send for circulars free.

A friend wrote us that he rid his farm of rats in the following manner:

"On a number of pieces of shingles I put about a teaspoonful of molasses and on that I put a small quantity of concentrated lie and then put the old shingles around under the bribs. The next morning I found some 40 dead rats and the rest left for parts unknown. I have learned several farms have been rid of these pests in the same way and never knew it to fail." It is worth trying.

Not Sorry For Blunder.

Farmers Thanksgiving.

Thanksgiving day is primarily a farmers' festival. They have justified their faith by their works. They have plowed the land and sowed the seed, confident that the early and the latter rains, the wind and the sun and all the forces of nature, co-operating, will produce an abundant harvest.

The laborer is worthy of his hire, worthy of his rewards.

There is a dignity about farming that attaches to no other profession, in that all other professions are dependent upon this one industry. The farmer feeds the world. After one crop there is not enough food left to support life upon the earth should the next crop be a complete failure.

We should close every year's labor with joy and thanksgiving. There is delight in labor itself. There is a pleasure in doing over again the things done heretofore, taught by last year's experiences how to meet and solve this year's difficulties.

On Thanksgiving Day the farmer should count over his mercies but not stop there; he should count over also his mistakes, his shortcomings. He should know better this year than last what his soil will do, what his market demands, what crops to discard, what practices to change.

Farming is not half as profitable as it ought to be. The farmer does not get his due proportion of the crops that he produces, but he does not produce the crops that he ought to produce. He must make a better use of that portion of the earth's surface which he calls his own.

It is his own in that he holds it for the benefit of mankind. Our race crowds out another because the coming race can make better use of the resources of the one driven away. Think of the whole continent of America for centuries like happy hunting ground of a few wandering tribes of Indians, probably not half a million in all.

Now see the same continent inhabited by over a hundred million, each acre made to yield its portion for the sustenance of the world.

Thanksgiving Day has, moreover, many happy memories of the home and fire. It is a day of good cheer, a day of good fellowship, a day on which the fortunate and the rich give out of their abundance to the unfortunate and poor. Keep it green in your memory. Make each day as it passes brighter than all of its predecessors. Make it a home-coming day where widely scattered families unite around one hearthstone.

Fairbanks on Advertising.

At the convention of Associated Advertising clubs of America recently held at Omaha, thirteen addresses, five in the forenoon and eight in the afternoon, were scheduled, principal among them being former Vice-President Charles W. Fairbanks. Speaking of advertising Mr. Fairbanks said:

"Does advertising pay? has been the theme of numerous and labored utterance and there are, no doubt remote and obscure corners of the country where it is still a vital, living question. As a rule, however, it has become academic and many of the successes we witness in the market place have been achieved by the fullest recognition in practice of the affirmative of the proposition. 'The best advertising and the best merchant are synonymous, and the poorest advertiser is usually the one who finds himself in a court of bankruptcy.'

Holding that a settlement and not an individual shipment would constitute an offense, Federal Judge John R. McCall ruled at Jackson, Tenn., that the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, if found guilty, could be held accountable for only forty-six offenses in connection with the so-called Grand Junction concession case. The Government expected to get $30,000,000 but is fooled again.
